Speaking on “Women’s Health”:

Sharon E. Orrange, MD, MPH, FACP
Associate Professor of Clinical Medicine

Dr. Orrange received her BA in Biology at the University of California, San Diego and a Master’s Degree in Public Health at the Johns Hopkins University School of Public Health. She received her MD from the Keck School of Medicine of USC and completed residency in internal medicine at the University of California, San Diego.

Women in Management (WIM) was formed in 1979 in response to the need for an organization for women in leadership positions at USC, and to address the issues of increased representation of women in responsible positions, equal pay for men and women holding similar positions, and the provision of a forum in which women could develop leadership skills. The purpose of the organization remains to provide a forum for communication, professional development, and career opportunities for women at USC.

WOMEN in MANAGEMENT

Empowering the Women of USC since 1979

Dr. Orange spent time during and after graduate school as a community health educator in East Baltimore and West Virginia doing teen pregnancy prevention and HIV education. She began work 20 years ago with the Department of Cardiology at LAC+USC Medical Center participating in ongoing research on the long-term outcome of patients with mitral stenosis who have undergone catheter balloon valvuloplasty and authored a publication in Circulation. Dr. Orange has served as the medical advisor on a leading health social networking site Dailystrength.org and writes a blog on various topics in primary care for Dailystrength, Sharecare and DrOz.com. She is also the medical advisor and blogger for Goodrx.com a prescription drug price comparison website. Dr Orange has appeared on The Ricki Lake Show and The Doctors as well as many local news outlets.

Dr. Orange has partnered with a group of investigators from UC Davis and has several recent publications assessing the use of online information seeking by patients prior to and after their physician visits (to see what drives patients to seek online information before and after their visits). Dr. Orange has been an invited lecturer for many topics including depression and anxiety disorders in primary care as well as women's health issues.

Currently, Dr. Orange is an Associate Professor of Clinical Medicine in the Division of Geriatric, Hospitalist and General Internal Medicine at the Keck School of Medicine of USC. She spends part of her time as the attending physician for medical students and residents during their medicine rotations at LAC+USC Medical Center and Keck Hospital of USC. Dr. Orange has an active private practice in general internal medicine at The Doctors of USC Beverly Hills and is a fellow of the American College of Physicians.

Dr. Orange has been included on the Best Doctors in America list, named one of Pasadena Magazine's Top Docs, Hollywood's Top Doctors and included on the Los Angeles Times Best Doctors in SoCal list.
